FATAL DUCKING.

After a Murderous Assault John Reichenbach Attempts Suicide.

Death Ensues This Morning From the Cold Water Shock—A Cranky Pensioner.

John Reichenbach's body was carted from the City Hospital to the Morgue to-day and registered at that institution under the head of suicide. Had the deceased lived he would occupy a jail cell this morning, and had he been successful in carrying out his murderous plans yesterday he would today fill a cell in Murderer's Row. Reichenbach was a soldier during the war and received a wound in the hand which left that member crippled and partially useless. For this he has been drawing a pension of $18 per month for several years. He was a laborer, and from his pension and the wages he managed to live. He boarded at Mrs. Rosa Wahl's house, No. 1908 Cherokee street, and paid his board with the pension money which was regularly collected for him by a young man named Charles Meyer, an adopted son of the landlady, who also boarded at the house. At noon yesterday the family and boarders were called to dinner, and Reichenbach responded with the rest. He had been in bad humor owing to the fact that he had not received his last pension, and he suspected that Meyer had already collected it. Just before dinner Reichenbach accused young Meyer of having embezzled the money, and the latter denied it warmly. The other boarders interfered and it was supposed that the matter was settled. As the family sat down to dinner Reichenbach seized a hatchet, and, running to where Meyer sat, dealt him a blow with the blunt end of the weapon. Meyer

FELL SENSELESS TO THE FLOOR, and his assailant ran out of the house, making an attempt to strike Mrs. Wahl in his escape. On President street, one block east of South Broadway, he plunged head foremost into the water, evidently with suicidal intent. John Blumhies John Heistericks, two young men, chased the old fellow to the water's edge. Old Reichenbach turned a glance on his pursuers, who were strung along the banks, and then deliberately ducked his head under the water. Denounces and Heistericks, regardless of consequences, pushed into the cold water and dragged the old man to the bank, where Officers McKelney and Jacobs took him in hand and resuscitated him after some hard work. He was then taken to the Gate Street Station, where stimulants were given him. He completely recovered, but only for a few moments, and as he grew steadily worse in his release, an ambulance was summoned, and he was transferred to the City Hospital, where he died at 1:30 this morning. Dr. Dean made a statement for the coroner, in which he gave it as his opinion that death resulted from congestion and shock consequent on his fall and cold bath. Reichenbach was of a cranky disposition, and his performance yesterday excited very little comment in the Wahl household. Young Meyer was not seriously hurt by the blow, though he received an ugly scalp wound about two inches in length. Dr. Blumhies was called in and revived the unconscious patient without much difficulty. The deceased was 57 years of age, a native of Switzerland and a laborer by occupation. He was a widower and has no children.

DESERTED HIS DARLING.

Henry Myers, Who Married a Philadelphia Hebrew Belle, Still Missing.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. PHILADELPHIA, December 10.—The prolonged absence of Henry Myers, who for two years has held the position of clerk in the United States naval rendezvous, provokes much adverse criticism. In 1881 he fell in love with Lena Harris, a belle in Hebrew circles. Shortly after their marriage he ran into debt for board, and his household furniture and removed to a cheap hotel. On November 20, on a ship of goods, he deserted his wife and her parents' residence, and he has not since been seen. It now transpires that he is heavily in debt. It is alleged that an over fondness for the gaming table wrought his ruin. Detectives who are seeking his present whereabouts report that he has another wife in Baltimore and that he has sailed for London, where he hails from, his real name being Blankinship.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
HILLSBORO, ILL., December 10.—The 10:30 train from the West, this morning, brought the parties, witnesses and attorneys in the Emma Bond case, which had been made the special order of the District Court for to-day. After the calling of the jury, about sixty of whom have been summoned, Judge Phillips called up the case of the people vs. John C. Montgomery, charged with outraging Miss Emma Bond. As neither Judge Vandever of Taylorville, for the prosecution, nor Judge Thornton of Shelbyville for the defense, were present, the case, by consent of the attorneys of both sides until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. There will be no further continuance then and the case will go right on. Gov. Palmer of Springfield, who was engaged for the prosecution, will not be able to be present, but Judge Ben Edwards, one of the best lawyers in the State, takes his place. Several days will be occupied in getting a jury. Miss Bond's health is in good condition and she expresses herself as able to stand the ordeal of the trial without trouble.

WAS LAID OVER

The Regular Monday Meetings—Denominational Items.

The Christian Ministerial Association met at the rooms of the Christian Publishing Company, 913 Pine, this morning at 10:30. There were present: Rev. B. H. Johnson, Rev. J. H. Smart, Dr. Foy, Dr. Hall, Chaplain Mullins, and Dr. Laurence W. Scott, author of a handbook of Christian evidence. The report from the Committee on Organization was read by Dr. Hall. The report embodied a revised plan, in which a permanent critic was appointed and a reviewer of all theological works issued by the Christian Publishing Company. A motion that four of the Christian churches unite with the Seventeenth and Olive Congregation in a union service was entertained, after which the association adjourned.

The Methodist ministerial Association met at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Huggins, at 11 o'clock, on Monday morning, for the purpose of presenting the reports of the various committees. The reports were presented by Messrs. Huggins, Lewis, Jump, Carrington and Williams. It is said that Dr. Carrington's essay on the devil, which should have been read some months ago, was so badly received, that the question of the "Operation of the Holy Spirit" was discussed at some length this morning and promises to be recontinued.

The Presbyterian ministers met this morning at the Presbyterian Publication Rooms. There were present Messrs. Fortune, Marquis, Steel, Allen, Reaser and others. The question of the Protestant Hospital was discussed arrived at that it would be wiser to defer until next week. It is thought the reason for the postponement of the matter is due to the fact that the Y. M. C. A. wishes the Presbyterians to assist in an uniform effort.

At the Baptist ministers' meeting this morning there were present Drs. Boyd, Harris, Green, and Revs. Heflin, Vogie, and Martin, three colored ministers. The "Divorce" was the regular Monday series. "Divorce" was announced as the subject for next Monday to be handled by a local divine. There are encouraging reports presented by the city pastors as to the Sunday's work.

At the noon prayer meeting to-day there were twenty persons present.

To-night there will be a testimony meeting for young men.

Tuesday evening there will be a young men's bible study and concert given in the lecture hall by the city choir.

Locked Up for Bigamy. J. B. Seely, a contractor and builder of Joliet, Ill., is in the Four Courts lock-up to-day, charged with bigamy. He was arrested yesterday on a program for bigamy. The man who was arrested is the man who was arrested on a program for bigamy. The man who was arrested is the man who was arrested on a program for bigamy.

The two former warrants were sworn out by Seely's divorced wife, who, Seely claims, is urged to do so by Jordan. The two cases are dismissed by Judge Cady in March and April, 1886. Seely claims positively that he was divorced from his wife in Hulsdale county, Col., and says he can prove it in court records. He says he will get even with his mentor as soon as he meets him. Mr. Jordan asserts, consequently, that he can prove Seely is a bigamist.

The Woman's Exchange.
The opening of the Woman's Exchange, which is announced for to-morrow, will not take place the next Saturday. The public are invited to attend the hours of the opening being from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 in the evening. The handsome stock of fine art goods, fancy needle-work, bric-a-brac, hand-painted ornaments, cakes, pies, mince-meat, etc., will be placed on exhibition and sale. The purchase of any of the articles will assist at the same time the Exchange and the women whose handwork they

MILITARY MATTERS.

An Army Officer Chas About Things of Interest in Brass Button Circles.

"The old landmarks have nearly all disappeared," was the remark made rather regretfully this morning at the United States Post-Dispatch reporter. The gentleman talking was Col. S. M. Whitelands, of the regular army, who is passing through the city en route for Arizona. Col. Whitelands was stationed at St. Louis about thirteen years ago, and had been trying to find some of the people and places he had been familiar with. "I visited the street that used to be considered aristocratic, and I found nothing but boarding houses," he continued. "The people are going West, I find."

"Is there anything interesting in army circles?" asked the reporter.

"Not much; about all the changes that have to be made for the present have been made, I think. I am going to take a trip to Arizona, but I shall leave my family here in St. Louis."

"The Indians are all quiet, are they not?"

"Yes, I believe Crook has settled them. He is a wonderful fellow—a ceaseless worker and a man who will face any amount of hardship. He never asks his men to do what he will not do. He intends to remove the troublesome Apaches from the San Carlos agency at White Mountain, where they will be separated from the rest and can farm. There are no Indians in that region very suitable for farming, and I believe they will be quiet. Before the last outbreak they were industrious. The railroads are solving the Indian problem. It used to be a matter of several weeks' time to get the scattered troops together to put down an outbreak, but now we can concentrate a large force in a few days."

"How are the army men pleased with the change of command?"

"Well, there is general regret at Gen. Sherman's retirement, and while there is a general feeling of relief at the change, it is not universal. The old general is an encyclopedia of information, and was much liked."

"You army men are not interested in politics, I suppose?"

"No, not directly; and yet we are interested in some. You see there are some strong Democrats among the officers, and while there is a Republican Administration there is a tendency to give the Republican officers the best assignments, so there is some partisanship about us, but as a rule, we are not affected much by the changes."

Col. Whitelands has been stationed at Washington, and is an admirer of the two Missouri Senators. He says that they are the President's prime favorite, and takes the lead as his evening companion.

PECK VS. CHOUTEAU.

A Special Jury Try the Famous Malicious Prosecution Case.

A special jury was impaneled in court room No. 4 this morning to try the damage case of Charles H. Peck vs. Charles P. Chouteau, Joseph H. Livingston and John M. Glover. The suit is for $50,000 damages for malicious prosecution and gross outrage. The plaintiff claims that on July 1, 1882, the defendants, by false statements and representations made by the defendant Joseph H. Livingston, at the instance and request of the defendant Chouteau, procured his indictment upon a charge of fraudulent conspiracy with Bernard H. Edwards and Edward P. Barrett to defraud Mrs. Alice Livingston and others interested in the Windsor Hotel. The plaintiff further states that the defendant Chouteau, by his counsel, caused him to be arrested on December 22, 1882, after the proceedings in the Criminal Court had fallen through, and compelled him to appear before the Court of Criminal Correction for three days, and in value the time which he thus lost from his regular business at the sum of $25 per day. Afterward, on December 15, 1883, the defendants are alleged to have procured the plaintiff's arrest and compelled his attendance at the three days for nine days; his time he estimates to be worth $25 per day. All of the proceedings fell through. In the present suit Mr. Peck is represented by Judge James J. Lindley, Frank J. Bowman and John S. Foster, and the defendants by Messrs. Herman, Shields, Frost and Glover.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.
Something About the Company that Proposed to Do Away With Gas.
There is now pending before the Municipal Assembly a bill granting to a stock company the right to lay wires in the city for supplying the general public with electric light as a substitute for gas. Among the incorporators are Charles P. Chouteau, Pierre Chouteau, C. C. Maillat and John N. Bolinger. In an article in the Post-Dispatch of Thursday last attention was called to the great danger to be apprehended from stringing endless electric wires over the tops of houses—damaging from fires and dangers to persons in contact with the same.

The bill as originally drafted gave the right to string wires over or under and through the streets. Already in committee strong objections have been raised to the stringing over the streets. The incorporators have stricken it out. They now only ask the right to "maintain and operate electric wires under the streets."

Another great objection offered to the original bill was that it proposed to pay the city for its privilege only the sum of two cents per lineal foot. This clause has now been changed so as to read two cents a foot and annum. The bill does not ask an exclusive right to lay wires.

In consequence of the Post-Dispatch reporter to-day one of the incorporators made explanations of the work of the proposed company. The electric light, as known to St. Louis, is the Arc light or open flame light. This new company will be called the St. Louis Edison Incandescent Light Company.

The incandescent light is entirely different from the Arc. It is a small, dim, house light, for actual use in residences and business. It is used in small chandeliers or electric lamps, in brackets, student lamps, or in just as multitudinous and reduced a form as ordinary house gas. It turns on with a flick of the switch and breaks the light in three months. When the glass breaks the light goes out and generally the user is as much as hardly to stock a person perceptibly if he should break a light. The incandescent light is used in almost every city except St. Louis. Haverly's incandescent light is used in New York city, notably the Herald, Times and Sun buildings. The wires used are copper wire, with a regular company furnishes power, as in New York, and as is proposed here, they are laid in the ground under the street.

The wires are surrounded by a wood tar (Kilson's) patent, and this by an ordinary wooden iron gas pipe. The whole is covered with a layer of earth. It is claimed to last a life time, and to need no repairs at all. It is claimed to be a safe and reliable light. It is claimed to be a safe and reliable light.
